

A. Lamar University (LU) has identified four methods of delivering courses that are approved for use. These options are Face-to-Face, Hybrid, Asynchronous Online, and Synchronous Online. All courses offered at the University must follow one of these methods and must follow the guidelines for the delivery method when the course begins.

A. This policy describes a pre-defined, standardized set of options for course delivery at the University. Defining these options will assist students during registration to better understand what to expect in each of their courses. Defining these options will also support faculty understanding of the options available to them for delivery of courses.

B. This policy acknowledges that pedagogical practices and technologies may evolve beyond the methods described in this policy (i.e., face-to-face, hybrid, and online). In these cases, working with their Department Chairs, instructors should follow LU policies and procedures for proposing and receiving approval for new or experimental courses that rely on emerging pedagogies and technologies.

C. All LU courses, regardless of delivery method, must adhere to federal and state requirements for accessibility to ensure that courses are inclusive and accessible to all students.

D. This policy falls under the authority of all applicable federal, state, and Texas State University System (TSUS) statutes, rules, and regulations, including, but not limited to, the TSUS Rules & Regulations; Texas Education Code (TEC), Title 3, Higher Education; and Texas Administrative Code (TAC), Title 19, Education.
